As the world rushes toward Christmas, this Sunday invites us to pause: God is truly with us, in our struggles and joys. Today's Gospel brings us into the quiet drama of Joseph's heart. He discovers that Mary, his betrothed, is with child—and his world turns upside down. Joseph is described as a "just man," and in his justice, he chooses mercy. He plans to protect Mary from shame, even as he steps away. But then, in the silence of his struggle, God speaks: "Do not be afraid... the child is from the Holy Spirit."

This moment teaches us something profound: God often enters our lives not in noise or grandeur, but in the midst of our confusion and fear. Joseph listens. He obeys. And through his trust, the promise of Isaiah is fulfilled: "The virgin shall conceive and bear a son, and they shall name him Emmanuel—God with us."

As we stand on the threshold of Christmas, this is our invitation: to believe that God is truly with us—in our homes, our workplaces, our joys, and even our uncertainties. Like Joseph, we may not understand everything, but we can choose faith over fear, obedience over doubt.

So, let us prepare not just our homes, but our hearts. Clean hands and pure hearts, as the Psalm says, ready to welcome the King of Glory. Emmanuel is coming—not as an idea, but as a living presence. May we open the door wide.

"God of all promise, like Isaiah, grant us hope; like Joseph, grant us obedience; like the Psalmist, cleanse our hearts. As advent draws near to Christmas, may we embrace Emmanuel—God with us—and let His presence transform our waiting into joyful trust."

Please write to the Energy Minister Ed Miliband to call for climate justice: action.cafod.org.uk/page/178976/action/1 and please pray for the care of the earth, our shared home: O God you are present in the universe and in the smallest of your creatures. Teach us to discover the worth of each thing, to be filled with awe and contemplation. Pour upon us the power of your love that we may protect life and beauty. Give us hope in our struggle for justice, love and peace for people and for the earth. Amen.
